Choirs with more experience in the international choral scene, at a higher grade of vocal and musical training, choirs of music schools and conservatories are advised to sign up for A categories.

Choirs with less experience, with a less frequent rehearsal praxis or more limited rehearsal possibilities or recently founded choirs regardless of the number of singers are advised to sign up for B categories.

Female sections of choir competing in A1 may compete in A3. Male voices may participate in A2.

For Choirs competing in B1:

- Female sections can also sign up in B3
- Male sections can also sign up in B2

In categories with an age restrictions (G1, G2, G3) a limited number of singers may diverge from the given age limit. May you have questions, please always consult the organisers.

Registration to the category S is free of choice.

II. Programme choice

When choosing the pieces, you are kindly advised to carefully consider the whole structure of the programme. Try to set up a well-balanced order of the pieces considering the dramaturgy and the different musical characters. We advise to select pieces which best reflect the choir's knowledge, the singers abilities, eventually their national choral traditions and age group of singers.

The organisers are happy to help you in your category and programme's choice. Do not hesitate to contact us:

Diplomas and Awards according to the inchoral Evaluation System

“The new evaluation system was presented a 2015 Budapest International Choral Competition. It preserves all the advantages of the well-known evaluation concept that I worked out while introducing new criteria to provide a more efficient assistance to choirs’ learning with a more detailed and perspicuous evaluation system. Beside other aspects the jury will give choirs a feedback about the program dramaturgy, the selection, difficulty etc. In evaluating a choir, taking all the criteria into account, we aim at finding a most desirable proportion of various elements in order to provide a realistic feedback on the choirs’ performance.

This new generation of choir competitions – which are now united under the auspices of InChoral – International Music Competitions Network – will focus on cultural exchange, getting acquainted with one another and a shared musical experience, beside well deserved success of the choirs.”

Gábor Hollerung
